RENSHAW WINS IN HIGHER COURT

David Smith Appears to Have Lost the Sheriff's Office.

ALL ON A TECHNICALITY.
May be a Chance to Try the Case Out on its Merits—
Opinion Not Received.

Mr. John M. Renshaw received a telegram Saturday night telling him that he had won the case appealed to the Court of Appeals, and would be sheriff of Christian county. The telegram read:

"Injunction dissolved, Barker writing opinion and Lassing, Carroll and O'Rear concurring."

County Judge Prowse issued an order March 11, removing David Smith, Democrat, because the latter had not renewed his bond by March 1, as required by law and appointed Mr. Renshaw.

When the case was tried here, Judge Cook decided in favor of Sheriff Smith and the case was at once appealed. Mr. Smith was elected in 1905, and was the first Democrat to be elected since 1898. He is one of the most prominent citizens of the county, and his removal is due entirely to his oversight in not renewing his bond as required. Mr. Renshaw is a man of high standing.

It is said that the motion to dissolve the injunction was not filed within 20 days and that Smith will retain the office until the case is tried out on its merits, unless the opinion passes upon the merits of the case and declares the office forfeited. This is the view taken by Mr. Smith's attorneys. If the decision is final, it will take over ten days to make a legal transfer of the office.

Calloway Grand Jury Still Hard at It---One Witness is Missing.

Murray, Ky., April 20.—The grand jury which is investigating the night riders' raids, returned thirty-one more indictments Saturday against men charged with participation in raids in Calloway county. This makes a total of fifty-two indictments which have been returned and more are to follow. Several of the men are indicted two or more times. More arrests were made by the sheriff and the soldiers, and County Judge Wells has twenty new warrants ready to be served to-day. The people of the county are now backing Judge Wells and are ready for the threatened raid on the jail to release the prisoners.

The names of those indicted today, who are in jail or out on bond, are: Josh Cunningham (two counts), Turner McCage, Tom McQuiston, Billy Williams, Hardin Lovett, L. Jones, Bob Duncan, Dallas Winn, Felix Winn, Ed Thompson, Van Elkins (two counts).

Those indicted Thursday were: Joe Bell, alleged Captain. Josh Cunningham. Jake Ellis. Van Elkins.

Hardin Lovett (two bills). Damus Miller. Jack Elkins. Ed Thompson. Elmus Williams.

Nine more alleged night riders were arrested Saturday. Their names are: Squire Tom Jones, Cornelius Bogard, Imper Parrish, Calvin Berry, Dick Berry, Chester Burkeen, Ciel Burkeen and Daniel Ellis.

All of the men arrested to-day are from the eastern part of the county and have been indicted by the grand jury. Jones, Bogard, Chester and Ciel Burkeen were placed under $1,500 bonds. Others being unable to make bond were placed in jail. Squire Tom Jones is at present a member of the Fiscal Court.

The grand jury has not completed its work against the night riders at all. The evidence against men in the eastern part of the county has not been exhausted, and the evidence against the suspected men around Kirksey, in the Western part of the county, has not been touched. Murray Harris, the missing important witness against the Kirksey crowd, has not yet been located.

Rumor has different stories about his leaving. One is that he fears personal violence at the hands of the men charged with night riding. Another is that the suspected men have bribed him to go. Most people, however, think fear of personal violence caused him to depart. It is believed that he will yet be located. If he should not be, it is believed that sufficient evidence will be secured to indict.

Thirty-eight arrests have been made to date. Joe Bell found another bondsman and again is a free man. The cases set for April 27 were changed to the 25th by common consent of counsel for both sides.

Will Ross, one of the men indicted for alleged night riding has departed. Ross was chopping wood when he stuck his ax in a piece of wood and remarked to his companion: "Things are getting too hot for me; I am gone." He crossed the Tennessee river.

Eight indictments were returned in Livingston county against Dr. Will Champion, of Lyon county,

TWO MINUTE SKETCHES

Sir Isaac Newton.

By J. A. EDGERTON.

A dull boy, he became the greatest mathematical genius of modern times.

In this age of doubt many of our most cherished legends have been assailed, the various storiesaries along with the rest. There have been at least three famous apples in history—the one eaten by Adam and Eve, the one shot off his son's head by William Tell and the one whose fall suggested to Sir Isaac Newton the law of gravitation. Despite the scoffing of the higher criticism, we still cherish these pipings and are determined to stand by them.

Newton was rather a dull boy and was literally kicked into exertion. He stood at the foot of his class and one day was booted by the boy higher up. Sir Isaac Newton was born to bear this indignity with the spirit that young Isaac not only whipped the kicker, but determined to go ahead of him in the class. This he did, and more, for he went to the head of the row and stayed there.

The second spur to effort received by Sir Isaac came when he sought admission to Cambridge university. He knew so little about Euclid that the professor of mathematics proposed admitting him. Newton thereupon determined to know Euclid and succeeded so well that he became the greatest mathematical genius of modern times.

He then started the story of the apple that fell and hit Newton so hard that the young man determined to find out what made it fall. If so great a skeptic as Voltaire could swallow the story, there is no reason why it should not be accepted by the other skeptics.

When Sir Isaac first made his computations on the subject of gravitation, he assumed that the same gravitational notions then held of the length of the earth's radius. He therefore abandoned the theory temporarily. Later the error was corrected, when he returned to the subject, completed the demonstration and gave it to the world in his famous "Principia."

In the meantime he had made his almost equally famous discoveries concerning light, dividing white light into the primary colors and determining the difference of refraction between them. He also did much in perfecting the telescope, gave to mathematics integral and differential calculus and made other contributions to science which marked him as the chief intellect of his age.

DIRE DISTRESS

It Is Near at Hand to Hundreds of Hopkinsville Readers.

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is the kidneys' cry for help.

Neglect hurrying to their aid. Means that urinary troubles follow quickly.

Dire distress, diabetes, Bright's disease.

M. G. Long, farmer, one of the best known residents of the county, who lives on the large farm which he owns, on the Franklin road, one and a half miles east of Russellville, Ky., says: "I had marked symptoms of kidney ailment, particularly in connection with the kidney secretions which at times were most irregular and distressing. Once and a while I would feel heavy, dull aching across the small of my back, always more severe after an over exertion. My attention was attracted to Doan's Kidney Pills by advertisements in the papers and the statements made by people who had tried them led me to believe that they could be depended upon. I procured a box and before I had used the contents there was a vast improvement in my condition, enough to prove to my satisfaction that Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney and bladder troubles."

New Plant of Utility.

In the search for new plants of utility attention has been drawn to the karite tree of French West Africa and the adjacent territory to the eastward. This tree bears a fruit which is said to be equal in value, including the Philippines, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska, Samoa, and the like. The last three colonial census and much other information.

MAN THE NATION REQUIRES.

John A. Johnson the Ideal Occupant of the PRESIDENTIAL CHAIR.

As president, Gov. Johnson would have the qualities that might be described as locally and historically needed at this time, representing both in thought and by concrete achievement all of the progressive reforms to which the American people are now thoroughly committed. His personality and his methods are such that, coming into office after such a strenuous and eventful period of recent years, he would be prepared to hold all that has been gained, restore an era of good feeling and smoothly and comfortably prepare the way for such additional advanced legislation as the times require. To a wise Gov. Johnson would be given the leadership the nation requires at this time, ready for new legislation to meet new needs, but careful and conservative in his methods. The same confidence-inspiring, vote-getting attributes that have made Gov. Johnson so popular in Minnesota that there is absolutely no question but that he would be a wise choice for the state at the Democratic presidential nomination will make him equally popular with the voters of the nation, once they have an opportunity to become acquainted with the man.

Every political campaign has its individual conditions. It is found in the case of Gov. Johnson that he has a strength peculiar to himself alone and by which he is certain to bring to the Democratic party upwards of a million votes in the middle west that have hitherto been Republican. This condition insures beyond a reasonable doubt victory for Democracy and Gov. Johnson in the following states: Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Montana, Washington and Michigan.

PLATFORM BROAD AND STRONG.

Declarations of Gov. Johnson All Democrats Will endorse.

"The Man from Minnesota" has been the subject of a detailed revision of the tariff, the end that articles now controlled in America by illegal and immoral combinations may be deprived of their tariff power to rob the community." He believes that tariff revision is one of the most important works for the correction of the abuses that are plaguing the country.

He believes that the enhancement of government by the people involves the least interference by federal power with the domestic affairs of the states consistent with efficient national administration.

He believes in the constitution. "For a president," he says, "to go outside the constitution, even to accomplish a heroic purpose, is to enter the road that leads to the destruction of republics."

He is opposed to the government ownership of railroads, by state or nation, but, as his acts show, is a strong believer in just and rigorous regulation.

He is opposed to over-sea expansion. He favors the peaceful consolidation of the continent from Panama to the Arctic circle.

He is opposed to great military establishments, but believes that the size of the American navy must necessarily be determined to some extent by the naval activities of other countries.

He is opposed to ship subsidies. "You can't kill combinations," he says, "but when they come in to crush the business of individuals they must be opposed as evils."

He believes in an income tax.

He believes in the just and equal enforcement of law, and that the observance of the law is an incumbent upon the rich and powerful as upon the poor and weak.

LEADER IN INSURANCE REFORM.

Whole County Benefited by Action of Gov. Johnson.

Having had some valuable experience in re-organizing a powerful Minnesota insurance company, Gov. Johnson was well prepared to deal with the emergency which arose when the corruption and extravagance of the management of great insurance companies was revealed in 1905. In November of that year, he wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, which placed him in the front rank of national leaders. In this letter the governor suggested a conference of governors and attorney generals to be called by the president at Chicago. This conference was held in January of 1906, and Gov. Johnson, as its chairman and dominant figure, named the famous "committee of fifteen," whose recommendations were embodied in the law in Minnesota and in about a dozen other states.

While the momentous decision reached by the committee of fifteen in such cases coming up from North Carolina and Minnesota is the fact remains that the effect of invalidating some of the railway legislation secured by Gov. Johnson in Minnesota, the fact remains that he has done what he set out to do and secured the enactment of principles and beneficial legislation. If, as now proposed, the bill is passed, the decision of the court in large measure transfers railway legislation from the states to the national legislature. It becomes of particular significance that one of the earliest acts of Gov. Johnson's career as a member of the Minnesota legislature was the introduction of a memorial to congress to extend the powers of the interstate commerce commission, a memorial which anticipated the extension of those powers by some four years.

What never leak? Exactly; never leak, never needs repairs of any kind, and last as long as the building itself. Neither melting snow, nor the worst driving rain can possibly reach the interior of the building that's covered with Cortright Metal Shingles. Pretty good recommendation isn't it? In addition we might add they're fire-proof and lightning proof too. Think of it and they are not as expensive as other forms of roofing. Step in and we'll show them to you.

A President of the United States will be elected this year. Who is he and who is the man whom he will beat? Nobody yet knows, but the Thrice-A-Week edition of the New York World will tell you every step and every detail of what promises to be a campaign of the most absorbing interest. It may not tell you what you hope, but it will tell you what is. The Thrice-A-Week World long ago established a character for impartiality and fearlessness in the publication of news, and this it will maintain. If you want the news as it really is subscribe to the Thrice-A-Week edition of the New York World, which comes to you every other day except Sunday, and thus is practically a daily at the price of a weekly.

THE THRIC-E-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKIAN together for one year for $2.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

THE BEST IN KENTUCKY

This reputation has been established by the Louisville Herald in printing all the news all the time. During this, a Presidential year, you want a metropolitan daily newspaper in addition to your home paper, and you can best satisfy that want by ordering the Herald in connection with The Kentuckian. The Herald's staff of correspondents scattered throughout the State, and its source of news throughout the country, especially in Washington, D. C., enables it to give full and accurate reports of the conditions as they develop.

We have special clubbing arrangements with them, and can save you money. See or write us, not The Louisville Herald.

MODERN INDIAN.

Oklahoma Will Prohibit Use of Sign for Cigar Store.

Chicago, April 17.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Guthrie, Okla., says, Senator Landrum, a Cherokee Indian, introduced a bill prohibiting the use of figures as cigar or tobacco signs.

The bill is certain to pass both branches of the legislature and become a law, as all political parties consider the large Indian vote to hold the balance of power. The bill provides a fine of $50 and six months' imprisonment for any person who uses an Indian figure, no matter for what purpose, or who has such a figure in his possession.

The last week has been very rainy, but we certainly hope that the next few days will be bright and warm, for the following young ladies are expecting a merry good time:

Misses Charlotte Hayden and Anna Roberts are the guests of Miss Ruth Adams.

Miss Alma Sisk is spending Saturday and Sunday with Miss Lena Jones, on the Clarksville pike.

Miss Arline Cook is spending Easter with Miss Mattie Adams of Church Hill.

Miss Maud Craig is visiting a few days with her friend Miss Lovia Ransom on South Walnut Street.

Miss Lucile Croft and Lamont Waller left this afternoon on the 5:37 train to visit their parents.

Miss Mary Whitaker left this afternoon for her home near Penbrook. "A. C. C."

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the great system tonic and builder.

Coffee in France.

Dr. Fernat, an eminent French physician, is quoted by the British Medical Journal as an authority for the statement that the use of coffee has increased in France to such an extent that it is now common for people of that country to drink a quart or more of a decoction of coffee daily. The habit is especially common among laboring women, great numbers of whom are received at the hospitals for treatment for disorders solely attributable to it.

Itch! Itch! Itch!—Scratch! Scratch! Scratch! The more you scratch the worse the itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures piles, eczema, any skin itching. All druggists sell it.

Words Men of Science Use.
In the columns of the London Times a dispute continues to be waged stoutly in regard to the language commonly used in scientific papers. The chief point insisted upon is that there is not in science any truth so abstract that it cannot be expressed in plain and clear English. The man of science who takes refuge in technical terms, such as zygotes and gametes, sporozoites and gametocytes, is, the correspondents allege, really confessing to a lack of education.

Mr. Wm. H. Anderson, M. D., of Soda Springs, Ida., says that Bees Laxative Cough Syrup has relieved coughs and Colds where all other remedies failed. Its gentle laxative effects especially recommend it for children. It is pleasant to take. For coughs, colds, hoarseness, whooping cough. Money refunded if not satisfied. Sold by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., Incorporated.

Effect of the Big Guns.

Considerable damage has been done at Dover, England, by the firing of the heavy guns from the fort which have been erected to protect the naval harbor. The town crier was sent around the town to advise the inhabitants to leave their windows open, but upon the firing of the nine inch guns the vibration was so great that in many cases portions of the ceiling fell, many ornaments were knocked down and broken and windows were cracked.

The report that the American Tobacco Company will be dissolved voluntarily as a result of the Government investigation, is vigorously denied by counsel for the company.

Democrats of the Evansville district have nominated Mayor John W. Boehne for Congress. Boehne is the first Mayor of Evansville to put on the "lid."

Harry V. McChesney, former Secretary of State, has opened a law office at Frankfort and will reside there permanently.

A story is sent out from Bristol, Tenn., that Chief of Police Sam D. Keller dreamed that the prisoners were getting out of the city jail. He arose, went to the jail and caught five of the prisoners sawing the hinges of the big outer door with a steel saw. They would have escaped in a few minutes more.

At Winchester, Tenn., Rev. B. H. Fulkerston, who eloped with Miss Ada Templeton and was captured at Riverside, Cal., having deserted his wife, is held on a $10,000 bond, charged with bigamy. His defense will probably be that he never married the betrayed girl.

The noted Hollowell damage suit at Paducah, growing out of night rider depredations in Caldwell county, is to be tried to-day in Federal Court. The suit is against many prominent citizens who are accused of being responsible for running Robt. Hollowell out of the State.

Good Figures for Low Leaf and Lugs.

The Association salesman sold ninety-three hogheads of tobacco last week, most of it being lugs and the rest low leaf. Prices obtained were fully up to the schedule of the Association. Association receipts were 590 hogheads for the week at the storage houses making a total of 4,161 hogheads in storage. The Society of Equity salesmen disposed of considerable tobacco at prices ranging from $7 to $12.60 for "Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura Remedies have done for my daughter. She is fifteen years of age, and had never been ill before. Her trouble with her skin until four months ago was nothing serious. It about took on a new form, however, and then quickly spread upwards until the whole of her head was affected, and she was delirious. Her skin was so sore she suffered was excruciating, and with that and the heat and tingling she was unable to sleep. She became run down in health, and abd. times was very feverish, languid, and irritable, and a complete case of delirium. Her nerves were in such a low state that she could not bear to be touched. She would not let anyone near her, she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window sill for hours at a time. A doctor a neighbor for many nights, telling Mr. Bronough not to drive another nail in a new barn he is building. The other ordered Edmund Fowler not to raise any tobacco on Mr. Bronough's place. Both letters contained dire threats if the warnings were not obeyed. Fowler is a young railroad man who is out of employment and was preparing to raise a small crop with Mr. Bronough, who is an association member. The proposed increase of acreage is the only known reason for the visit. But few people knew that Fowler would raise the crop. The barn is a shoddy shed, and not intended for tobacco.

The family heard a noise on the porch in the night, but made no investigation until morning, when the bundles were found leaning against the wall.

charging him with sending threatening letters, in connection with the night riders. Champion has been indicted in Marshall county as a leader of the riders.

In Fayette County.

Night riders in Fayette county threatened to burn every barn on the farm owned by two lone women, only a short distance from Lexington, and as a consequence of the warning letter the owners have abandoned their plan to grow tobacco this year.

Major J. T. Earl, of Latonia, has received a letter signed "Night Riders," warning him to leave town by next Wednesday or his house will be burned. He recently began prosecution of the gamblers in Latonia and it is thought this was the reason for the warning note.

In Kenton.

Farmers who have been raising tobacco in Campbell county are worried over warnings from night riders.

One of the messages was received by Joseph Kenney, residing near Menter. Three representatives of the night riders called on James Bass, a farmer of Spring Lake, Ky., shortly after midnight and warned him to cease growing tobacco or he would be sorry. Spring Lake is about seven miles from Covington. It is stated that Bass' tobacco beds are the only ones now left in Kenton county, owing to the fear of the night riders.

READY FOR RAIDERS

Citizens Formed Into Companies and Heavily Armed.

New Castle, Ky., April 17.—With the past few days companies of men have been armed in several precincts of Henry county. Each company has a captain and lieutenants, and is well armed. A considerable portion of the guns were furnished by the State, upon applications induced by Judge B. F. Hill. The alleged object of these companies is to defend the persons and property of the members against night riders. The following precincts have organized: Lockport, Defoe, Franklin, Pleasureville, Echo Dell, Port Royal and Turner's Station, while others are being organized.

It seems a safe prediction to say that from 25 to 35 per cent. of a tobacco crop will be grown in Henry county. And notwithstanding the war-like movements of some of the people, it is believed by everyone that the peace will not be broken.

SWITCHES LEFT.

First Outrage Reported in This County for Two Months.

After a period of inactivity covering two months, night riders Saturday night visited the home of Robt. M. Bronough, near Casky, and left two bundles of switches on his back porch. Attached to one was a note telling Mr. Bronough not to drive another nail in a new barn he is building. The other ordered Edmund Fowler not to raise any tobacco on Mr. Bronough's place. Both letters contained dire threats if the warnings were not obeyed. Fowler is a young railroad man who is out of employment and was preparing to raise a small crop with Mr. Bronough, who is an association member. The proposed increase of acreage is the only known reason for the visit. But few people knew that Fowler would raise the crop. The barn is a shoddy shed, and not intended for tobacco.

TUBERCULOSIS

Causes Death of Miss Cordelia Johnson.

Miss Cordelia Johnson died at the residence of Mr. James Willis, five miles east of the city, Friday, after a long illness, of consumption. She was 53 years old and a member of Little River Christian church. For several years Miss Johnson conducted a millinery establishment at Madisonville. About a year ago her health failed and she returned to Christian. She was a most excellent woman and leaves a host of friends. Funeral services were held Sunday morning by the Rev. Hardin, pastor of Little River church, and the interment took place in Riverside cemetery at 10 o'clock.

FOUND NEW LAW.

Will be Invoked by Governor to Punish Night Riders.

Frankfort, Ky., April 20.—Gov. Wilson has addressed a letter to Adj't Gen. John Hartwell calling attention to a law passed several years ago under which the night riders may be apprehended and punished and property may be guarded against injury or destruction, the guards to be paid out of the county treasury. The act also provides that officials who fail to act when notified may be punished and that a witness cannot be exempt from testifying because his testimony may incriminate himself. It is believed the enforcement of this act will solve the night-rider troubles if they occur again in any part of the State.

In Pendleton.

George Harry, who resides six miles north of Flemont was visited by night riders and informed that if he did not pool his crop, they would scrape his tobacco bed. Mr. Harry is an independent grower and intended to raise a crop, having sown his seed. Mr. Harry came to town to arrange for pooling his crop.

There were three regular services at the Baptist church Sunday, 11 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The afternoon service was to men only and it was largely attended. At night the church would not hold the people. Every seat was taken, chairs were placed everywhere, the stand was filled with people, the Sunday school rooms, gallery and even the new Baraca Hall were all packed. Many stood up around the walls and in the doors and probably 100 people were sent away, being unable to get in.

Evangelist Neighbour preached on the Prodigal Son, discussing in a new and unusual way the temptations that beset the young man who left his father's home. He said his son had started down hill, in all probability, by first meeting Miss Theatre, who in turn introduced him to her friends Miss Wine Cup, Miss Play Cards and Miss Dance.

The four together soon had him wrecked and ruined financially, morally and physically. His sermon abounded in illustration and made a deep impression. Four persons responded to his invitation to turn to a better life.

Through the gate of dreams lies the fair land of romance in which you would travel, finding welcome relief from the daily grind. Now you are invited to accompany the Princess Virginia, who determines that the royal personage who would honor her with his hand must fall in love with her and woo her as any other man would a woman. Therefore she travels incognito in his realm, meeting adventures strange and full of excitement. You will learn with pardonable pride that the American blood in her veins gives her an independence unheard of in the presence of kings, but most of all you will want to know how she succeeds in her bold undertaking. That you will enjoy every minute of the reading is assured by the verdict of thousands who declare "The Princess Virginia" to be a most delightful story.

The prince was amused. "No; she wouldn't stick at a mother if she wanted to get rid of her. I don't know what she is about it; she has apparently annexed a whole family tree. The black mole and the scar dimple—you're sure of them, chancery? Because, if you are—"

"Oh, I am practically certain!"

"Then the more pieces in the puzzle which I fit together, the more likely does it seem to you. Leopold's Miss Hotel Mowbray and my Miss Jenny Brett are one and the same."

"Miss Jenny Brett?"

"Did you never hear the name?"

"If I have I've forgotten it."

"Chancellor, you wouldn't forget if you were a few years younger. Jenny Brett is the prettiest girl in town, most popular, and has never sent out from Australia, the fashionable home of singers. She is billed to sing at the Court theater of Kronburg in a fortnight, her first engagement in Rhenania."

"You are right. It may well be that she's been having a game with us—a game that we can prevent now, thank heaven from thy goodness, earnest."

"No, you can prevent that."

"Your royal highness was not the lady in your own country?"

"No. It was in Paris at first, but I'm afraid I induced her to accept an engagement at home. We were great friends for awhile, and really she's a charming creature. I cannot bear to see her again, but I have guessed that she'd turn out so ambitious! By Jove, I can sympathize with Leopold. The girl tried to twist me round her finger and, I verily believe, fancied at one time that I would offer her marriage."

"It must be the same girl. And the emperor has offered her marriage."

"What? Impossible! But—with the left hand, of course, though even that would be unheard of for a man in his."

"I swear to your royal highness that he didn't stop her will force her on the Rhine! As people as emperor."

"Gad—little Jenny Brett! I didn't half appreciate her brilliant qualities."

"Yet I could wager that she appreciated them."

The prince shrugged his shoulders. "I believe she really cared something for me—a month ago."

"Then she still cares. You are not a man whom a woman can forget, though plique or ambition may lead her to try, tell you frankly I believe she's a good woman. Your royal highness here at this moment, and my best hopes are now pinned on you. You—and no one as well as you—can save the emperor for a nobler fate. Even when I supposed you a stranger to this lady who calls herself Queen Mowbray I thought that if you would consent to meet her again, your fate would change there might be hope of averting the danger from my master. Now I hope everything. I beg, I implore, that your royal highness will send up your name and ask the lady to see you with-out delay. She will certainly receive you, and when the emperor learns that she is alone, so it may go far to distract him, for, pardon me, your royal

"If you could persuade him to go out to your hunting lodge. Then Leopold and Rhinehael would be saved by you. What could be better? What could be more suitable?"

"What? Indeed," echoed the prince, "for every one concerned except for Jenny Brett?"

"Considering the havoc she has worked among us all, need she be considered before the interests of a great country and, perhaps I may hint, an innocent and lovely royal lady whom this girl is doing her best to humiliate?"

"I'm hanged if she need be so consider'd! Anyhow I'll do what you ask. I'll send up my card, and then we'll see what happens."

The prince took from his pocket a small gold case sparkling with jewels, a trifly which advertised itself as the gift of a royal person. Out of the case came a crown over the name in the fashion of his country and some others. An equerry waiting in an adjoining room was summoned, the card given to him, passed on to a hotel servant, and then for five minutes, ten minutes, the old man and the young one waited, talking of a subject very near to both of them.

At last, when they had no more to say, word came that Lady Mowbray and Miss Jenny Brett would see him royal highness.

"The value of a well regulated mother!" laughs the young man, who had not troubled to inquire for Lady Mowbray. "Well, whatever care of this interests you, I'll do what I can presently have something to tell you."

"The suspense will be hard to bear," said Count von Brötschstein. "But I have perfect faith in you. We understand each other completely now, but I'm growing old, and the past few days have tired me sorely. Remember, I pray you, all that's at stake and do not let me down, I beseech you. Be no false example with such a person as this. The emperor will soon arrive in Kronburg. He'll lose no time in trying to find the girl, and once they've had

IT SAVED MY LIFE--

WRITES ECZEMA PATIENT

Bed-ridden Sufferer Completely Cured
by Use of D. D. External Wash.

One of the most remarkable Eczema cases recently credited to the well known D. D. D. Prescription has just been recorded in Chicago.

Miss E. Hegg, 1550 West Madison street, under date of Dec. 9, 1907, writes as follows:

"I suffered three years with Weeping Eczema. It started with a little spot on my knee and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor I heard of, but kept getting worse. Nothing would stop the awful itch and burning.

"I had to stay in bed from the middle of May to the middle of July. Then I tried D. D. D. Prescription. This is the 9th of December and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life."

When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me. I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me. D. D. D. stopped the itch at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere."

Just a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription applied to the skin brings relief—nothing to swallow or drink. We vouch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleansing D. D. D. Soap, R. C. Hardwick, Hopkinsville, Ky. Get a bottle today if you have any skin disease. Begin your cure at once.

When he has found those he sought and there, as he will, and I must be at my house to receive and answer his message. It will soon be time now."

"Very well; all that seems to arrange itself satisfactorily," said the prince.

"Our motor drive can be stretched out for an hour and a half. The lady who went to see the Emperor of China, he went back till half past 6. If it would let your book to break in upon us at the table—My dining room isn't very grand, but it has plenty of light and color and wouldn't make a bad background for the last act of this little drama. What do you say, chancellor?

I've always thought that your success as a manager of the theater of nations was partially due to your eye for dramatic effects."

"Such effects are not to be despised, considering the audience we cater for in that theater."

"Well, I promise you that for our little amateur play tonight in my private theater the fatalities shall be lit, the stars shall twinkle, two or three of the principal persons dressed and painted for the show before 3. I suppose you can introduce the leading man by that time or a little later?"

The bristling brows drew together involuntarily. Count von Breitstein was working without scruple against the emperor for the emperor's good, yet he whined at his accomplice's light jest, and it was by an effort that he kept a note of disapproval out of his voice.

"Unless I make a mistake, his majesty will order a special train as soon as he has had my message," said he. "That and everything else failing as I confidently expect, shall be able to bring him to your royal highness' hunting lodge a little after 9?"

"You'll find us at the third course," prophesied the prince.

"Naturally the emperor's appearance will startle your visitors," went on the chancellor, keenly watching the young man's extraordinarily handsome face. "So far as I can see, the ride will end and drive out with you, great as the temptation would doubtless be, did she dream that he would learn of the escapade and follow. Indeed, your royal highness must have found subtle weapons ready to your hand that you so soon broke through the armor of her pride. You exchanged many words from your connection and respect, yet, yet I hardly dared hope for such speedy, such unqualified success as this which now seems assured to us."

"My weapons were sharpened on my past acquaintance with the pretty lady," explained the prince; "otherwise the result might have been postponed for several days. And, after all, I've had many moments, though at last the end might have been the same."

"Not for Rhaeta. Every instant counts. Thanks to you, we shall win, for, actress as this girl is, she'll find it a task beyond her powers to justify to a jealous man this evening's tête-à-tête with the emperor."

"We shall test these powers in our audience, we can be audience and audience her histrionic talents," said the prince pleasantly, though with some faint, growing sign of constraint or perhaps impatience. "There's no doubt in my mind, whatever may be the lady's conception of her part, about the man's. And, after all, it's with that alone you concern yourself, eh, chancellor?"

"It's that alone," echoed the old man.

"Then you would like to go and await the message. There's nothing more for us to arrange. An arrangement, you know."

"Tell 'em."

"When the curtain for the last act will ring up."

The prince held out his hand. Count von Breitstein grasped it and then hurried to his electric carriage, which had been waiting outside the hotel. A few minutes later he was taking over the wire to the emperor in the railway station at Folgarde.

PATRIOTIC ESSAYS

Written by Pupils of Hopkinsville Public Schools.

Twenty-two essays have been written by pupils of the Hopkinsville Public Schools competing for a gold medal offered by the local chapter Daughter of American Revolution for the best patriotic essay on subjects submitted. Eight of the papers are on "The American Indians," eight on "The Foreign Volunteers of the Revolution" and six on "Heroes and Martyrs of the Revolution."

The essays are submitted by number and all are neatly and attractively gotten up, with uniform covers and nothing to indicate the writer. Some of them are typewritten. The papers will be submitted to a local committee who will call them and select the most meritorious ones.

These will, in turn, be passed upon by some leading educator to be selected by Superintendent Barkadas Hamlett.

It is not yet known when the award will be made. Probably at the end of the school year.

TRUST APPEALS CASE.

International Harvester Co.
Wants Fine Cut Down.

Topeka, Kans., April 16.—The International Harvester company of America has appealed to the supreme court of Kansas from the verdict rendered against it in the Shawnee county district court, and the assessment of a fine of $12,500 upon 48 counts upon a charge of making illegal sales of farming machinery under exclusive contracts.

Primarily, the company claims it should have been fined, if at all, upon only one count, instead of forty-eight.

Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Old Cemetery to be Renovated and Turned into a Monument Park.

At a meeting of the city council Friday night some important business was transacted.

An election was ordered for Saturday, May 2, to choose two trustees for the Hopkinsville public schools. Those whose terms expire are J. E. McPherson and J. T. Wall, both of whom have served for years and will be candidates to succeed themselves. The Mayor was authorized to appoint the officers.

The improvement of the old cemetery, in use by the city from 1810 to 1873, was authorized and a committee appointed, consisting of Mayor Meacham and Councilmen Galbreath and Handie. The committee has power to appoint an auxiliary committee of citizens, and will probably name a committee of ladies, representing descendants of pioneers buried in the cemetery. The general plan is to clear the grounds of briars and weeds and convert the two acre lot into a neat little park with a monument in the center to the early settlers.

It is proposed to let the shaft be surmounted by a bust of Bartholemew Wood, who donated the land to the city of Hopkinsville about 115 years ago.

Popular subscriptions will be asked and a series of entertainments may be given in the summer to raise the money.
